Rationale: The job description for the Information Management Specialist is being revised to ensure job duties and minimum education and experience requirements align with the expected scope of work. Specific revisions include minor edits to existing performance responsibilities and removal of the Computer Keyboard Skills exam.

Rationale for requesting removal of the typing test: While clerical staff are required to perform typing as part of their job, the need to complete typing assignments within a designated amount of time is not typically required. Additionally, technology enhancements over the years include word processing applications with spell-check and grammar correction functionality, which assist to ensure accuracy. When many of BCPS's clerical job descriptions were created (1980's - 1990's) typewriters were used to develop documents. Removal of the typing test as a minimum job requirement will assist with increasing the pool of qualified job applicants.

As part of the process to create and edit job descriptions, Compensation provides the designated Bargaining Unit or Meet and Confer Representative with a copy of the new or revised job description prior to the First Reading. Any feedback received from the Representative is reviewed for consideration and, where applicable, incorporated as part of the job description.
