Goods/Services Description

Responsible: Exceptional Student Learning Support (ESLS)

College Prep Program:

Exceptional Student Learning Support (ESLS) Transition Department has been tasked with developing and offering more programs for students who choose to defer their high school diplomas. According to State mandates, students with an IEP that requires special education, transition planning, transition services, or related services through the age of twenty-one (21) may defer receipt of their standard diploma. Transition Deferment Programs must be designed to be within a results-oriented process that focuses on improving the academic and functional achievement of the child with a disability to facilitate the child's movement from school to post-school activities, including postsecondary education, vocational education, integrated employment (including supported employment), continuing and adult education, adult services, independent living or community participation.

The ESLS Department is expanding transition services by offering a new Transition Deferment Program for students who are interested in developing skills that will help them transition into an accredited college of their choice. This program will provide twenty-four (24) students with the opportunity to increase academic skills, executive functioning, and social-interpersonal skills necessary to transition successfully into college. Students will be on Broward College campus five (5) days a week working on developing math, reading, writing, self-advocacy skills, and learning strategies. They will have the opportunity to experience college courses to help students determine a career path and course of study. This program is designed to provide students the opportunity to prepare for their post-secondary education.

These programs are sustainable year after year with full-time equivalent generated by the students.
