Goods/Services Description

Responsible: Bilingual/ESOL Department

The “Latinos In Action” program will teach students real-life leadership experience by participating in student-led service, social, and professional committees and class presidencies. LIA students will also receive high-quality instruction from a culturally responsive and CASEL-aligned curriculum. CASEL is the leading organization for high-quality and evidence-based social and emotional learning support for educators. The curriculum emphasizes on post-secondary education options and readiness, goal-setting, responsible decision-making, leadership skills, personal development, professionalism, health and wellness, and an exploration of one’s cultural heritage. LIA students will serve as role models, mentors, and literacy tutors for neighboring elementary school students. The partnership helps both parties develop linguistic proficiency, refine social skills, and deepen their understanding of the value of being bilingual and bicultural. LIA will provide a Summer Leadership Bootcamp for leadership teams at all LIA schools to come together to develop skills in preparation for their roles as leaders in their classes. In the spring of each school year, LIA hosts a student leadership conference at Florida Atlantic University for all LIA students. The conference is a celebration of culture, accomplishments, and opportunities for further leadership development through renowned speakers and focused workshops. LIA provides Mastermind groups, which bring LIA student leadership teams from nearby schools together and empowers them to accomplish their class goals through shared accountability. LIA staff works with professional educators to launch and sustain the program within their schools by providing year-round classroom support and hosts annual teacher professional development and district professional learning community experiences.
